Third Liberty loan bonds, in denominations of $50 and $100, now on sale for cash, at the Peoples National Bank. Bonds on hand ready for immediate delivery. Call and buy yours while they last.

Morris Gotter of Seminary street, whose glazing tools have repaired window breaking depredations of Barre youngsters for a decade, is packing his household goods preparatory to moving his family to Springfield, Mass., where he is to continue at his trade as a glazier.

By working overtime, street department laborers employed in garbage collection work were nearly even with the first day of their schedule yesterday, and to-day the clean-up week activities were continued with unabated vigor. Some delays were encountered through the neglect of householders who failed to enclose their rubbish offerings in containers. The property owner who fails to obey this first law of garbage collection runs a very real risk of forfeiting the privilege which the street and health departments are extending the citizens of Barre this week. So far as possible the collectors are adhering to the schedule published in Saturday's Times, which is the same schedule followed in the weekly collections last season.

TALK OF THE TOWN

See Abbott's line of dress gingham. Come and see the Red Cross play given by the Spaulding girls Friday night.

Mrs. Eleanor Calderara of 327 North Main street is at the City hospital for treatment.

Emily Stevens in "A Sleeping Memory," a seven-reel Metro feature, at the Bijou to-day—adv.

Everything marked down to cost in five days' sale at Beattie & Duncan's, 168 North Main street.

Patrick McGuire of 45 Foster street underwent an operation for hernia at the City hospital yesterday.

Americo Movalli of Buffalo, N. Y., is visiting for a few days at the home of his mother on Bassett street.

John Caciavo returned last evening to Milford, N. H., after spending the past several days with friends in the city.

Regular meeting of Bright Star Rebekah lodge, No. 18, Wednesday evening, May 1, at 8 o'clock. Work. Refreshments.

Charles Donetti of North Main street returned yesterday from Waterbury, where he has been spending the past few days on a short fishing trip.

Lot of household furniture to be disposed of at the auction sale on the Corlies farm in Williamstown to-morrow. See adv. on page 7. D. A. Perry, auctioneer.

There will be a meeting of the sewing committee of the Hospital Aid association at the hospital Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Every member of the association is urged to be present.

Mrs. A. C. Stano of Smith street left the city this forenoon for Pittsford, where she will visit for a few days with her son, Italo C. Stano, who is confined at the Pittsford sanatorium.

Third Liberty loan bonds, in denominations of $50 and $100, now on sale for cash, at the Peoples National Bank. Bonds on hand ready for immediate delivery. Call and buy yours while they last.

W. H. Moody is preparing to move his household goods to Albany, N. Y., where he has employment as a stone mason. Friends of Mr. Moody have assured him of their regret over his impending departure.

Third Liberty loan bonds, in denominations of $50 and $100, now on sale for cash, at the Granite Savings Bank & Trust Co. Bonds on hand ready for immediate delivery. Call and buy yours while they last.

Mrs. Vincent Lettini of Granite street returned last evening from Boston, where she has been visiting her former home during the past two weeks. She was accompanied by Mr. Lettini, who has been spending the past week in Boston on a short business visit.

An invitation has been extended through the Barre Board of Trade to the people of Barre to attend a lecture to be given at the Montpelier city hall Friday evening, May 3, by Congressman Dale.

The lecture is given under the auspices of the Montpelier Board of Trade and other Montpelier organizations.

Fred J. Baird of Elm street returned this morning from Iraville, where he assisted the man who works his farm in gathering buckets in the sugar place.

Mr. Baird realized an average of two and one-half points to a tree, and in figuring his aggregate crop had the call on other farmers in his neighborhood for the reason that he profited by the last run of sap, while others had suspended operations for the season.

Slippery hill roads between Barre and Plainfield occupied the attention of two Barre chauffeurs, Mr. Goodfellow and Joe Amet, from 6 o'clock last night until after 1 o'clock this morning. Two cars which the drivers endeavored to guide to Barre persisted in leaving the greasy highway, and several thrilling experiences happened before the autoists negotiated the last lap of their journey home.

Mr. Goodfellow was returning from a business trip to Brattleboro. The following Athol, Mass., item was taken from Monday's Boston Globe: Miss May L. McWilliams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McWilliams of the City hotel, died early to-day following an operation for appendicitis at the hospital Thursday afternoon.

Miss McWilliams was 30 years old on Friday and was a native of Barre, Vt. She had resided with her parents for four years in Athol. She leaves one sister, Miss Agnes, of Boston, besides her parents. The funeral will be held Tuesday morning.

Between the state's attorney's office and the department of charities and probation the authorities hope to settle a difficult matter in Graniteville, where a woman named Leazer is alleged to be guilty of the neglect of her children. The state's attorney said to-day that the woman has laid herself open to prosecution by the alleged criminal neglect of her offspring, one of whom has been in need of extraordinary care because of a frozen foot. The condition of the family came to the attention of the authorities several days ago. The woman has been the subject of a number of interviews, and at present she is supposed to be looking after the children.

Card of Thanks.

We extend our thanks to the orchestra and to all those who contributed to the success which we attained from the benefit dance last Saturday.

News has been received in Barre of the birth of a son April 27 to Mr. and Mrs. Minutti of Concord, N. H. Mrs. Minutti will be remembered as a former employee of the Barre Steam laundry, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Reid of Bassett street.

AGED MAN WAS SLAIN FOR MONEY

found, so it is believed that the man was attacked soon after he reached home from his little trip to the store a hundred yards or so from his house. But as a matter of fact, those who are acquainted with him state that it was not his custom to remove his clothes at night. He had been living alone for more than a year, or since his wife's sister, Mrs. Cairn Wisley, who kept house for him, was killed by a train on the Central Vermont track. Mrs. Hobart died seven years ago. Mr. Hobart was physically able to do the small chores about the house, but he preferred to engage the Sherman boy to bring the water and wood to the house. The only man surviving is a son, George Hobart, who resides in Springfield, Mass.

Running Down Clues.

As soon as the sheriff's department in Montpelier was notified of the murder, Sheriff Tracy and Deputy Sheriff Smith and Emery went to Middlesex with State's Attorney Davis of Barre and took charge of the situation. An autopsy was ordered and Dr. B. H. Stone of the state laboratory in Burlington was summoned to perform it.

Meanwhile the county authorities were running down possible clues to the identity of the murderer or murderers. While Deputy Sheriff Charles Smith was walking along the street in Montpelier this forenoon he spied two men who are known to the police of Barre and Montpelier and as they did not give answers which were satisfactory to the officer he turned them both over to the Montpelier police, who, in turn, surrendered them to the sheriff's department. The men are reported to have gone to Montpelier by the last electric car out of Barre last night. They have, it is said, been in police court.

WILLIAMSTOWN

Town Over the Top by Some $4,000 in Liberty Loan Drive.

While this town was not named in the list of Vermont towns that had raised their quota in the third Liberty loan, the records in the hands of the chairman of the committee show that the town has gone over the mark by some $4,000, having invested $18,000, while the quota was $14,000.

The remains of Mrs. O. W. Allen of Waltham, Mass., formerly Miss Fannie Jackson of this town, were brought here and buried in the Jackson lot in the village cemetery last week Wednesday, April 24. Among those who were present were the husband, Orlo W. Allen, a schoolmate of your correspondent at district No. 11, East Brookfield, in his boyhood; Mrs. Fred Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Jackson of Chelsea, Mass. and Mrs. Frank W. Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Richardson of Barre, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Martin and Mrs. W. M. Seaver of this town, all relatives except the last named, who was an old schoolmate of the deceased. Fannie Jackson was the daughter of Austin and Almira Jackson, whose home for many years was on Baptist street, and she was born in 1846. An only brother, Fred Jackson, now living at the home of his son, Edgar, in Chelsea, was unable to be present on account of serious illness with rheumatism and hardening of the arteries.

ley Keeling returned yesterday from the Methodist conference at St. Johnsbury, having been absent nearly a week.

Mrs. Mary J. Staples, Diantha Sanders and W. N. Roberts and Miss Gertrude Martin were in Barre yesterday afternoon on a business mission.

Patrolman O. W. Martin has been in the gut putting the road in shape for travel and it was last Sunday in good enough shape so that cars could pass with no hindrance except some muddy spots, the worst place being a strip of some 10 or 15 rods just at the foot of the hill at the end of the Gulf.

Ensign Crawford, who is in charge of the work of the Salvation Army in Barre, went to East Brookfield with Rev. and Mrs. John Irons last Sunday afternoon and conducted the service there, as he also did at the union service in the Congregational church here in the evening. Good audiences were in evidence at both meetings.

J. Lindsay Winchester came from Waterbury last Saturday for a visit to his parents, returning to his duties in the office of the Union Granite company on Monday morning.

Mr. Greenleaf, who has been a tenant in the house belonging to the LeBaron farm for several months, moved last week to Barre.

Misses Ruth and Ruby Bruce were in Barre last Saturday and with their sister, Rena, a Goddard student, saw a part of the game between the Goddard boys and the Dartmouth reserves.

Reception this (Tuesday) evening at the Methodist church to Rev. and Mrs. George W. Keeling, pastor of this people for the past two years. All townspeople, without regard to church affiliation, are invited to be present.

George T. Colby took the night train at Barre April 28 for Moores Junction, N. Y., expecting to return with two or more pairs of draft horses.

At the firemen's hall on the afternoon of next Thursday, May 2, L. H. Burgwald of the University of Vermont will demonstrate different methods of making cottage cheese and also give recipes for the use of skimmed milk in cooking. Everyone is invited to come at 2 p. m.

Shoes for Men. Look Over Our New Ralstons!

If you are thinking of new shoes, look over the Ralstons in our show window, or, better yet, come into the store and look them over closely. They slip your feet into a pair.

That's the true test of the style and fit of any shoe, and we are sure that the try-on will prove so satisfactory that a try-out will result.

Ralstons are standard A-1 materials, put together by standard A-1 workmanship. The result is a shoe of which most men are glad to say, "Exactly my kind of a shoe."
